

INTRODUCING SOLIDARITY ECONOMY

PART 1 OF 5 WEBINAR SERIES

Date: Monday, 3/19/18

Time: 10-11 am PT / 1-2 pm ET

RSVP: tiny.cc/introducing

In our first of five webinars, our speakers will introduce the framework of solidarity economy, its history and contemporary practice, and examples in the Asian American immigrant and refugee experience.

EMILY KAWANO

Emily is the co-director of the Wellspring Cooperative Corporation which seeks to create an engine for new, community-based job creation in Springfield, MA. She serves as Coordinator of the United States Solidarity Economy Network. An economist by training, Emily served as the Director of the Center for Popular Economics from 2004 to 2013. Prior to that, Emily taught at Smith College.

JULIA HO

Julia is the founder of Solidarity Economy St. Louis. During the Ferguson uprising in August 2016, she worked with Missourians Organizing for Reform and Empowerment (MORE). For the past two and a half years, Julia has been building a network of businesses, organizations, and individuals fighting for a just and sustainable economy.
